HOTEL ARRIVALS.

ORMSBY HOUSE, SHARP BROTHERS PROP. — J. C. McTarnahan, Carson Valley; L. M. Pearlman, San Francisco; Capt. Jack Crawford, Russell Bassett, King Hedley, W. C. Cronbie, T. H. Barton, C. L. Tebbetts, W. Royston, Miss C. Murielle, Miss L. Morrey, Edith Woodthorp, Capt. Jack Combination; Augustus Ash, F. D. Nicoll, Virginia; J. A. Mallfeldt, O. M. Mallfeldt, Tuscarora; Leon Cohen, Virginia.

"If you don't quit moving in your seat," said a teacher to a Carson school boy, "there'll be trouble."

"I move you dry up," was the insolent reply.

"I overrule the motion," said the teacher, laying the lad across a bench and lifting high a flat piece of black walnut about two feet long.

The boy howled for an adjournment.

STILL GNAWING THE FILM. — In response to an allusion made in yesterday's APPEAL to a young man who wrote love letters to a servant girl and was foolish enough to attach his signature to the same, the wide-awake journalist who wields the "scissors" for an evening paper announces that the reporter of the APPEAL is about to become the recipient of a clean shirt from appreciative citizens. So long as the shirt is not striped it will be more than acceptable.

A man who was discussing Daggett's gall said that the article carried around by men who stole hats at dancing parties was in his opinion a superior article. He had known a man to change a greasy six-bit cap for a five-dollar felt hat of a different color, and when detected, tell the owner that the resemblance was so great that it was almost impossible to distinguish the difference. He believed that even Daggett would feel embarrassed in the august presence of such artists.

W. L. Davis is in the city soliciting orders for Anthony, the Virginia City book binder. Mr. Anthony is ready to bind everything and in any style. Any one who looks at his work will be astonished that such skill could be found in Nevada.

Speaking of the Bray and other claims the Times wittily remarks, "When Bob Pixley comes back from New Mexico we will get him to examine the mines and report."

Sothern is expected along this way soon with his "Cousin Sam," "Dundrery" and the "Crushed Tragedian."

G. C. Fish, of Dayton, was in the city yesterday, shaking hands with old friends and attending to business.

On Good Friday the Knights Templars will attend divine service at the Episcopal Church.

A BIG JACK. — While Benton's stables are being thronged with visitors who delight to admire the fine points of the Norman stallion "Hercules," there stands another animal a few stalls away which no one takes the slightest notice of. It is a thoroughbred Jack valued at $1,500 and owned by the same man who imported "Hercules" to this coast. He is called "Duke," and is a rare specimen of his kind. He is bigger than his comrade; that is, longer, if you count from the tip of his ears to the end of his heels. A more ungainly looking beast was never exhibited. A blanket is kept on him all the while for fear of frightening the other horses. Yesterday an APPEAL reporter asked a hostler to take the blanket off. The man seized a sixteen-foot pole and removed the cloth. He was very cautious about the matter, and looked all the while as if he wished the pole was longer. He approached the animal from the side and trembled like a leaf all the time. Presently he worked the blanket off and as if he had just realized the full audacity of the familiarity he had ventured upon, hastily retreated to another part of the stable. He did wisely, for a moment later the heels of the mule twinkled in the air as they explored the spot where the hostler had been standing, with a whiz that was suggestive of a buzz saw in motion. The animal then returned to abstracted contemplation of his hay, occasionally lifting his right hind heel to the rafter to drive in a loose nail and keep the member in practice. He was all bones and joints and looked like a complicated piece of machinery. His face was a real study for a skillful physiognomist. It was full of wisdom and genius, and though not remarkable for beauty, had a look that told of bushels of brains. His ears were at least eighteen inches long and rose and fell with the wind like the burlushes of a mill pond undulating with the breeze. His intelligence made him look older than he really was. Had Congressman Daggett seen him he would have purchased him on the spot.

A NORMAN STALLION. — There is now to be seen at Benton's stable the largest thoroughbred ever brought to Nevada. It is a fine Norman draught stallion, seventeen hands high and nineteen hundred pounds in weight, imported from France. It is the property of H. H. Moore, of Oakland, and $5,000 would not buy him. No lover of horseflesh should fail to see this magnificent specimen of brute creation. Such massiveness of strength combined with such symmetry of outline it would be impossible to conceive in a horse. As he stood in the stall with his blanket on a group of men gathered about heaping encomiums upon his fine points. When the blanket was removed they were lost in silent admiration. It was like the undraping of Pyrene. The animal is pure white and as gentle as a dog. A child could go in and pet him with perfect impunity. The broad face has a look of genial intelligence, and no one would fear the big brute's strength who looked into its kindly brown eyes. The chest bulges out like a barrel and the legs suggest the pillars of a court house. In this noble beast lies the hope of future generations and beyond him will stretch a long line of noble draught horses who can look back and take a true pride in their honorable lineage, feeling that their ancestry never wore the collar of labor or felt the brand of servitude. The animal will remain during the coming season in Genoa in charge of M. Orcutt.

CAPT. JACK. — There was a good audience last night to witness Capt. Jack's combination play Life on the Border. The drama is new in Carson and is crammed with the exciting scenes of frontier life which appear so thrilling in a play. Capt. Jack sustained the leading role in excellent style, having much improved his acting since he traveled through this country two years ago. Miss Constance Murielle gave a fair rendition of "Emma Reynolds." Miss Edith Woodthorp became a favorite at once as "Betty Mullany" and "Old Slote" proved a fine character role in the hands of Russell Bassett. Cronbie, whose line is excruciating comedy, had a heavy villain to personate and did it well; to-night he will appear much more in his element in a comedy character. King Hedley as "Broad-brim" was a feature of the piece. The rest of the cast was excellently sustained, and the company have created a good impression. To-night California Through Death Valley will be given. It is Jack's best piece and incidental to the performance Russell Bassett will give imitations of leading actors in which he has everywhere made a prominent hit.

KILLED THEM ALL. — A few days since Uncle Crane, of this city, was up Carson Valley hunting ducks, when he finally espied a fine lot of them quietly resting in a pond. Cautionally approaching within range, he turned loose on the flock, and to his surprise not one of them got up, he had bagged the entire lot with one barrel of his gun. But just then the heads of two sportsmen came up out of the tules placing Crane in the awkward position of having been trying to kill Charley Meder's wooden decoys.

A CRASH IN STOCKS. — The afternoon stocks of the APPEAL were pried last night too late to be reset. In a time when the market is stagnant one day's stock list looks so much like another that one of last week can hardly be told from the latest P. M. board.

A THRILLING TEMPERANCE SERMON. — Yesterday afternoon a temperance advocate saw a pile of bottles in the rear of one of the hotels, and calling out the proprietor said: "My friend this is a terrible lesson to take home to your heart. You see that pile of bottles. Think of the misery they have occasioned; think of the blasted homes, the crushed hearts, the tears of anguish and the flood of human woe that has passed through them." The proprietor gazed for a few moments at the bottles and remarked sadly:

"I presume they have made considerable trouble."

"Yes indeed my good man," continued the other, "promise me to banish such things from your house forever."

"Hardly," said the hotel man, "they will have 'em on the table all the while."

"Do you mean to tell me that you would deliberately set the soul destroying poison of the still before your guests?"

"Oh said the landlord I begin to catch your drift, those bottles were used originally for pickles, catsup, and Worcestershire sauce, the whiskey and champagne bottle pile is over there in the other corner of the yard."

WIND. — Yesterday's weather was characterized by a gale of wind from the south which swept over the town like a tornado. It was not remarkably cold, but most infernally powerful and at times so fierce that pedestrians could make but little headway against it. It filled the air with cart loads of dust and people with a natural abhorrence of dirt remained prisoners in their houses most of the day. It was particularly aggravating to dry goods dealers, whose wares soon became covered with a brown deposit which piled up in successive layers. It was ten times worse than snow or mud, and men with sand bars accumulating in their stomachs threw their profanity about with a lavish tongue.

PASSED THROUGH. — A party of Philadelphians passed through yesterday morning on the lightning train for the Comstock, consisting of the following named persons: Hamilton Diston, John L. Hill, W. Littleton, W. H. Wright, W. G. Huey and R. C. Titterton, and Frank X. Cicott, Esq., Coiner of the San Francisco Mint. Mr. Cicott goes East to be gone about six months, traveling with the party in their special car. During their visit to this coast the Philadelphians have made purchases of some valuable mining property in Arizona.

FIRE ALARM. — About half past ten o'clock yesterday morning an alarm of fire brought out the department. The wind was blowing a perfect tempest, and those who heard the alarm felt rather more than anxious for the result. It proved, however, to be a smoking chimney connected with the Reform Club rooms, and the firemen, thinking that the institution ought to have water enough for the occasion, went back to the engine-houses without having found it necessary to turn on a stream.

THE CARSON RIVER. — The melting of the snow is already having a marked effect on the Carson river, which is rising and breaking away from the thraldom of the ice which has held it all winter. It is foaming and dashing along as if it soon expected to overflow its banks and break something. The rise will help the mills along its course and give the boys an opportunity of swimming and fishing not enjoyed for a long time.

McFADDEN-BARCOCK. — The case of McFadden vs. Barcock came up in the District Court yesterday. Ellis and Soderberg for the plaintiff and Gen. Clarke for the defense. The case has been fully outlined in the newspapers and much personal feeling has resulted in the matter. So far nothing but the plaintiff's side has been given. The APPEAL will give a summary of the trial when both sides have been heard.

BAD BREAK. — Yesterday afternoon Capt. Jack went into Muller's barber shop to get shaved, when one of the artists, from sheer force of habit, remarked, "Hair cut Sir!" Bringing his twenty-six shooter from his pocket he shot the barber on the spot. As the unfortunate man died he made an expiring attempt to sell his slayer a bottle of hair oil.

REFORM CLUB ENTERTAINMENT. — On next Saturday night Dr. McKenzie will take a benefit at the Carson Opera House. There will be a choice selection of songs, recitations, etc., similar to the performances already made popular with the people of Carson by the Reform Club. Admission 25 cents.

It has been decided to give the return leap year party on the 1st of April.

NOTICE.

All parties holding bills against Frank Boskowitz will present them for payment on or before the First day of April, and all parties indebted will call and pay at the same time without further notice.

PROFESSOR LANGER'S MUSIC CLASS. — Prof. Langer, the well known leader of Piper's Orchestra, has started a music class in Carson. He has already received a number of scholars from the best families in the city, and his thorough methods of instruction give the best of satisfaction. He gives vocal and instrumental instructions and teaches on the piano and violin. He will give lessons on Wednesday of each week. Orders can be left at the APPEAL office. f21-1m

WE CAN'T TALK

Without showing the condition of our teeth. Every laugh exposes them. In order not to be ashamed of them let us use that standard dentifrice, SOZODONT, which is sure to keep them white and spotless. No tartar can encrust them, no canker effect the enamel, no species of decay infest the dental bone, if SOZODONT is regularly used. It is a botanical preparation, and its beneficial effects on the teeth and gums are marvelous, as it removes all discolorations, and renders the gums hard and rosy. m7

MUSICAL. — Miss Lizzie Davis, of Virginia City, teacher of the violin, comes to Carson every Monday and remains until Wednesday. Adults or children wishing to become rapid and correct performers on the violin, and to acquire a profound knowledge of musical time and to read readily, also generally musical theory can get all necessary information as to terms etc., by inquiring of C. A. Marston, photographer, or at the Arlington House. Lessons in dancing given by Brown & Davis at Arlington Hall every Tuesday from 11 A.M. till 9 P.M. Social every night after dancing school. m9

A DRY GOODS DREAM. — A woman who goes into M. Cohn's emporium drifts off into a dream of rare and beautiful feminine finery. She sees the best product of foreign looms piled up on the counters, laces, draperies, illusions and elegant toilette materials, such as only the rarest skill can produce and which women of taste admire. The secret of the success of this house lies in the fact that M. Cohn knows how to select the best and is never imposed upon by the eastern houses who work off their inferior goods on inexperienced persons.

ATTENTION! — The greatest wonder yet discovered in medicine is Mrs. Dr. Howe's celebrated rheumatism, neuralgia and toothache cures. Would you rather suffer the pain of having a tooth drawn than buy a bottle of Mrs. Dr. Howe's toothache medicine? Mothers should not be without it for their infants. A few drops in a little sweetened water to swab a teething baby's mouth will instantly relieve the little sufferer. The medicine does not cauterize, and is very pleasant. Sold by all druggists. mh7
